INSPIRATION FROM OUR RABBI

No matter when they arrive, the High Holy Days are always on time. The question for us each year is not whether we are ready to celebrate these days, but whether we are ready to be changed for the better on these days. Yes, these days are meant to be spent with family and friends and serve as an opportunity for togetherness. Our traditions call us to more than that on these Days of Awe. As October begins, we celebrate Rosh HaShanah and enter a time period that asks us to dig deep into our hearts, our souls, and our relationships.

The work of the High Holy Days is not easy. These days ask us to reflect on our actions and our intentions from the past year and commit ourselves to doing better in the year ahead. These days ask us to put aside our materialism and our ego and focus on our spirit and our soul. These days ask us to consider our interactions with each other and with God and to work towards reconciliation, forgiveness, and apology. Hard work, indeed! Our tradition recognizes this, though, and in many ways, gives us as many opportunities as possible to make these aspirations into reality.

One of the ways is through the work of the month of Elul, now concluded, which asks us to begin to look inward. Then, at Rosh HaShanah, we celebrate God and God's creation in which we are blessed to live. We sound the Shofar to herald the new year, to announce the future, as it were, and recognize that it is yet unwritten. Our actions are not preordained. What we do is up to us and us alone.

With the recognition that the future is in our hands, we then get to Yom Kippur, which asks us to look back at the decisions we've made and commit to the work of teshuvah, the word for repentance, but which comes from the root meaning turning. We turn away from the bad path and toward the good. We turn away from sin and toward mitzvah. We turn away from our basest impulses and toward a life of Godliness and holiness.

The prayers we recite and the customs we practice on these days, push us to do this hard work. The Avinu Malkeinu prayer posits that God is both a ruler who passes judgment and a parent who shows compassion for those who sin. The Unetaneh Tokef reminds us of our mortality, but is followed by the expression that "repentance, prayer, and charity temper judgment's severe decree." The Kol Nidre reminds us that we will make promises we will not keep, and acknowledges that, while we may have the best of intentions, we know that we will sin. The confessionals list all that we might have done in the past year; but they do so in the plural, because we believe that when one member of our community errs, we are all somewhat responsible. As it is said in the Talmud, all of Israel are responsible to one another.

The messages preached from the pulpit, in part, seek to direct our energies as individuals and as a community in specific ways in the year ahead. This year's High Holy Day sermon topics currently include: Living as a Bearer of God's Light, Climate Change, Seeking Middle Ground, and Antisemitism.

When we get to Sukkot, we celebrate the bounty that God provides, and we revel in abundance and blessing and living the values of welcome. Tradition posits that though our fates are written on Rosh HaShanah and sealed on Yom Kippur, the final decree isn't made permanent until the end of the week of celebrating in our temporary dwellings. The fragility of the sukkah is once again meant to remind us that while God may be Eternal, we are only here for a short time. We ought to make the most use of the time we have and live our lives in the best way. The calendar of Tishrei implies that God wants to give us as much time as possible to do this hard work, to commit to being bearers of God's light, and living our most important values. There are always opportunities to change our ways and to commit to being better. This time of year asks us to make this task our focus for a few weeks.

When we commit to this, we will certainly have a Shanah Tovah u'Metukah, a good and sweet year! May it be so for you and your family, and may these High Holy Days be meaningful and transformative for you!

Shanah Tovah!
Rabbi Daniel Bar-Nahum

"Just so you know, 'Sorry not sorry' is NOT an appropriate form of atonement."

NOTES FROM OUR CANTOR

As we share together the Yamim Noraim, the Days of Awe, we are greatly moved by texts and music in our liturgy that are unique to the High Holy Days. Here are two prayers highlighted:

Kol Nidre

How ancient is ancient? When it comes to the melodies of our people they are judged as Misinai or 'from Sinai' when they have been part of our tradition for generations. The melodies that stir our souls and help us to find that 'still small voice' within us have a special place in our tradition.

Kol Nidre is one such melody. It is perhaps our oldest known Jewish chant dating back to the 11th century. Marking the beginning of the Day of Atonement, the Aramaic text is more a declaration than a liturgical prayer. Each of us is individually called to renew ourselves and ask for pardon and forgiveness from all vows, obligations and debts that we will make to Adonai and which we may not fulfill in the year to come. Standing with the Torahs, the tradition is to sing this melody three times. Each time it is chanted a little higher and a little louder so that we might be able to approach the High Court first with humility, then earnestly and finally with purpose. The repetition allows any latecomers to also be part of this declaration.

The haunting Kol Nidre has inspired composers over the centuries. Before our service begins we prepare ourselves by hearing the composer Max Bruch's cello setting. Bruch heard and interpreted the melody through the pleading sound of the instrument, speaking to our hearts. When I chant Kol Nidre, I am humbled to be a klei kodesh, a holy vessel for each of our prayers.

Unetaneh Tokef

Our High Holy Day liturgy follows the basic structure of any of our prayer services. However, special poetic insertions, called piyyutim (the Greek word for poem) add to the overall emotional impact of the holiday. One such piyyut is Unetaneh Tokef. In this poem, God is anthropomorphically shown to be the judge of all humankind, examining the Record of Deeds in the Book of Life, and making decisions on who will live and who will die. The conclusion of the prayer states that penitence, prayer and good deeds may temper judgment's severe decree.

While we do not know this poem's origin, it is very similar to a Christian prayer, attributed to a man known as Romanus who probably lived in Constantinople during the 4th or 5th century. At that time in history, there was a lot of borrowing back and forth between the Jews and Christians. It is likely that a Jewish poet heard this poem and adapted and translated it to Hebrew. (Today, another similarly worded prayer is included in the liturgy of the Roman Catholic Requiem Mass.) However, it was created, this piyyut has become an essential prayer in our High Holy Day liturgy. The power of its words impels us to examine our actions of the past year, learn from our mistakes, and put into action a plan to improve ourselves regarding our relationship with humankind and the world.

We are fortunate that among a few great Jewish composers who have faced these profound words, music has been created that reflects both that power and humility. We include settings by both Max Janowski and Louis Lewandowski in our TBT services. The Lewandowski Unetaneh Tokef uses a melody in its opening statement that is part of the leit motif, the theme melody of the High Holy Days. This ancient musical element is also referred to as Misinai, but can only be traced back approximately three centuries to the beginning of Jewish music transcription. The Misinai motifs used in both these settings of Unetaneh Tokef can be heard echoed throughout the liturgy during the High Holy Days.

As we share together these extra-ordinary days filled with layers of meaning, may we be inscribed and sealed for a year filled with blessings, health and joy.

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

Happy October!

A question we ask often in the Religious School to get to know one another is, "What is your favorite Jewish holiday?" For me, the answer often changes with the season. In the Winter, I might say Chanukah, because who doesn't love fried food and beautiful lights and stories of overcoming adversity? In the Springtime, Pesach for sure, because it is the one time of year my whole family gets together in one room and sits still around a great big table long enough to catch each other up on our lives.

Right now, without a doubt, I can tell you that my favorite Jewish holiday is Sukkot. I love sitting in the sukkah with friends and family and sharing food, or song, or laughter. There is something incredibly special to me about taking time out of my day to shake the Lulav and Etrog and sit outside and breathe in the fresh air with my friends or the students or the whole TBT community, or even those from outside our walls. To me, Sukkot says, "Welcome. Welcome, all, to this space, no matter who you are. Here in this space, we sit together, eat together, and pray together."

This is why I love that Sukkot happens right in the beginning of the school year. It gives us the chance to send a beautiful message of welcome to our new families and students, and to simply say welcome back to those we haven't seen during the summer months. Each of our classes get the chance to leave their classrooms, and spend time with their teachers, madrichim, and clergy as they welcome each other back to our special school community. This year, even BNTY is getting in on the fun, hosting for the first time a special Havdalah service and dinner inside our sukkah.

So, from me to you, as we settle in for a great new year, B'ruchim Haba'im, a warm, warm welcome to you all.

Meredith Lubin,
TBT Director of Education & Youth Activities

Attention!! Sisterhood Artisans & Vendors

This year Sisterhood is going to try something new and exciting during our paid-up membership dinner. The dinner is taking place on October 22nd and all Sisterhood members are invited.

We would like to extend the opportunity to all of our members to exhibit and/or sell your jewelry, fabric art, painting or other handmade crafts. All that is requested is that you donate one item that will be used for our raffle that is taking place that evening.

We will be setting up tables outside of the social hall for the exhibition from 6:30p.m. until 7:30p.m.

We must hear from you so that we can arrange with the office for set up, etc. If you have any questions please call Emily Altman at 516-647-7123.

PRESIDENTS' MESSAGE

We welcome October, a month of joyous Jewish holidays to share and enjoy. We celebrate Sukkot, the celebration of the gathering of the crops. We work together as a temple family to build a shelter called a Sukkah. Simchat Torah is when we sing and dance around the Torah and honor our love of its works. The Torah is unraveled and wrapped around us. What a wonderful sight to see. Someone has to organize these celebrations, and I thank those who already volunteered. All our committees are meeting at this time, and we can use new members and ideas. We would love for you to consider joining a committee that appeals to you and get involved.

Think about how rewarding it feels to build a Sukkah, help/perform with the two shows, or see your ideas in the making of a program. Our temple has many committee meetings each month that could use your help. We have housing, fundraising, communications, social action, budget, membership, religious education, bingo, ritual, and Torah committees to name a few. There are also five arms of the temple, which have committees also. You can also join any of the five arms; flyers are available in the temple lobby. Contact a Vice President listed on our website to find out when meetings take place or look in the Voice at the calendar for the month. Your temple family is always there for you and will support you and help you in any way you need.

The high holidays are so special to us in worship, remembering and prayer. Thank you to Rabbi Bar-Nahum and Cantor Timman for all their devotion to the preparation of the services. Also, thanks to the Ritual Committee, Housing, Sue- Ellen, Morah Meredith Lubin, the Custodians and all the volunteers for their devotion during this special time. The New Year brings us a new beginning, and we as your Co-Presidents are here for you.

Share with us your ideas and how we can improve your home. We will both be present and will attend most meetings that take place. We will host a town hall meeting shortly so we can review the High Holiday Services and answer your questions. Feel free to write us at anytime. Be part of your temple and your second home. Enjoy the season of fall and take in the beauty the season has to offer.

BROTHERHOOD / MEN'S CLUB

L'Shana Tovah. May 5780 be a year filled with good friendships for all of our TBT family. The fall season is always a busy time for our Temple and this has certainly been true for the TBT Brotherhood/Men's Club. Our Brotherhood/Men's Club Sunday morning breakfasts began on Sunday, September 8th. The Brotherhood/Men's Club "kitchen crew," led by Mike Bruno, prepared freshly cooked eggs, potatoes, and sautéed onions as well as providing bagels, coffee and desserts. Thank you to all of the men who wake up very early to have our breakfasts ready. Please see page 23 for a list of breakfast dates. Thank you also, to our Brotherhood/Men's Club members who cooked and served a delicious BBQ dinner at our Family Shabbat on September 6th.

Our members serve as ushers for the High Holiday Services, helping to maintain the warm yet dignified atmosphere we have all come to expect during the High Holidays. Thank you to all of them for their assistance. Thanks too, to Rabbi Bar-Nahum, Cantor Timman and the TBT choir and musical director for a wonderful holiday experience.

Our Brotherhood/Men's Club monthly dinner meetings got off to a great start on September 17th. A delicious meal was enjoyed by all. Our program featured a presentation by Greg Prince who authored a book on the career of Mike Piazza. Whether you were a Mets fan, or a Yankee fan, this lively discussion about one of the sports "high achievers" was enjoyed by everyone. Thank you to Anony Baroukh for enhancing our Social Media coverage.

October brings the Festival of Sukkot. Our members always erect our beautiful Sukkah, and led by Les Richards they decorate it beautifully. Our Free, Catered October Paid-Up Membership Dinner will take place inside the Sukkah on October 22nd.

November promises another great dinner meeting. On November 19th, our program that evening will feature a discussion by James Coll, Adjunct Professor of Constitutional Studies at Nassau Community College. Those who have had the opportunity to listen to his presentations at previous TBT meetings, or at local libraries, know he is always informative as well as entertaining. His topic will be Religion and the Constitution and will cover the original intentions of the Founding Fathers as well as legislation and Supreme Court rulings over the years. Thank you to Eric Altman and Warren Kolinsky for providing our speakers and entertainment at the monthly dinners.

December 1st will bring our annual Fall Fair which is a major fund raiser for Brotherhood/Men's Club. We look forward to seeing everyone there doing some holiday shopping.

TBT-PTA UPDATES

L'shanah Tova from the PTA
By Rachel Minkowsky

L'shanah Tova! We hope your New Year celebrations were sweet!

Our school year is officially underway! Our children are making new friends, learning new prayers, and singing new songs.

The PTA exists to support the teaching staff and all our students. You'll find us in the background during all the religious school events, but we need you, too! Membership is critical to our continued success, which is why our flyer is below. Please join and make a difference in the education of our children. All proceeds go directly to programming and materials for ALL our religious school children.

The PTA meets on the first Sunday of every month. We love new faces and volunteers! The next meetings are scheduled on 10/6 at 10:00 and 11/3 at 11:30 in Room 104.

OUR COMMUNITY

Hello Ladies!

The 2019/2020 temple year is under way, and we would like to welcome you to Sisterhood. Our Annual Paid-Up Membership Dinner is Tuesday, October 22 (6:30 P.M. hors d’oeuvres 7:00 P.M. dinner). This is a lovely evening of fun, friendship, and great food, as well as a wonderful kickoff to a busy year of activities.

If you have already joined Sisterhood, thank you very much. All new TBT women and mothers of children in grades K-2 in the Religious School have a complimentary membership their first year. If you have not yet joined, please include your membership check for $40 (payable to TBT Sisterhood) along with the tear off from the membership flyer so that we can have all of your information.

SOCIAL ACTION

Social Action/Social Justice Committee

The Social Action/Social Justice Committee wishes everyone a Happy, Healthy, Sweet and Meaningful New Year and High Holiday Season.

We received lovely letters from Island Harvest and from Adopt-A-Battalion thanking TBT for its generous donations and continued support. TBT's recent food donation to Island Harvest totaled 1126 lbs. and was able to supplement 938 meals! Our 20 bags/boxes of donations to Adopt-A-Battalion allowed them to send out 23 boxes of needed and appreciated items to our military men and women.

Thank you to Heather Gottfried and to Chai Club for putting together a school supplies collection this August. Supplies collected are already in the hands of students and are helping to make their school year a successful one.

Last month, representatives from the League of Women Voters held a successful Voter Registration Drive. There they helped congregants and BINGO players register to vote, update registrations, apply for absentee ballots and much more. The LWV will also be providing us with information regarding NYS' new Early Voting procedures and voting sites. Details will be made available in flyers in the lobby, on the scroll and in TBT's various other communication platforms.

Our High Holiday Food Drive is well underway. Collection boxes and suggestions for donations are in the lobby. In the interest of increasing our recycling and reuse of plastics, please remember to empty your donations directly into the collection box and take your bags home for reuse.

In conjunction with Sukkot, our Youth Group will be heading over to The Garden at St. Francis to assist with their harvest and to learn about their mission to provide fresh produce to local food pantries and others in need.

TBT is signing on to the Religious Action Center's Brit Olam initiative. By so doing, we are joining with the Reform Movement all across North America to "publicly reaffirm its commitment to meaningful Social Justice work guided by Jewish Values" For more information please visit <https://rac.org/brit-olam-covenant-our-world-0>

We will also be engaging in initiatives to address the impact of climate change by supporting reforestation and tree planting. According to the National Arbor Day Foundation, "through the natural process of photosynthesis, trees absorb CO² and other pollutant particulates, then store the carbon and emit pure oxygen." A number of scientific articles and organizations have suggested that planting billions of trees worldwide can have a positive impact. Although it cannot solve all of the climate change related threats, reforestation is particularly timely given the recent extensive fires in the Amazon Rainforest area.

Sisterhood will be working with us on a collection of women's personal care items. These items are particularly needed by clients of agencies such as the Interfaith Nutrition Network as financially strained women often are forced to choose between food/medicines and taking care of personal needs. Watch for details.

Please consider joining us. Meetings will usually be held monthly on Wednesday evenings at 7:00 in Room 104.

Upcoming Collections/Events –

Ongoing -

October – High Holiday Food Drive
January 5 – Blood Drive

Baby/child care items for St. Jude's Mother and Child Ministry
Brotherhood/Men's Club's collection of personal care items for our troops
Chai Club's Kosher Food collection for Kosher Food Pantry

SOCIAL ACTION

The Social Action/Social Justice Committee would like to share the following community information:

Climate/Environmental Issues

Problems with the Long Island water supply have been in the news lately; everything from the detected contaminants to the lowered aquifer levels. To find out what you can do at home to conserve and protect the Long Island water supply, visit <http://www.longislandcleanwaterpartnership.org/content.aspx?page=athome>

Women's Issues/Rights

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month which helps to increase world wide attention and support for the awareness, early detection and treatment as well as palliative care of this disease. For info: <https://www.nationalbreastcancer.org/> or <https://www.wv5.komen.org>

October is also World Menopause Month The International Menopause Society, in collaboration with the World Health Organization has designated Oct. 18 as World Menopause Day and uses this time to promote education and research about midlife women's health issues. To learn more: <https://www.womens-health-concern.org/2012/10/october-world-menopause-month> or www.imsociety.org

Civic Engagement

NEW!!! Early Voting in NYS – Nassau County will have early voting from October 26-November 3

There are 15 sites. Hours vary from day to day but are the same for each site Up until Election Day you can go to any of the designated sites in Nassau County that is most convenient.

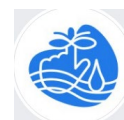

For a full listing of sites and hours go to:

<https://lwvofnassaucounty.wordpress.com/2019/07/18/nassau-county-early-voting-locations-and-hours-2019-general-election/>

Candidates Forums: October 10 – Molloy College, 7-9 pm, 1000 Hempstead Ave, Rockville Centre, Hempstead Town Supervisor

October 15 - Castle Gould's Great Hall, Sand's Point Preserve 7 pm, 127 Middle Neck Road Nassau County District Attorney

Be an informed voter: learn who the candidates are, hear their views and priorities, ask your questions and let your views and priorities be known.

To get involved in the efforts to clean up and protect Long Island's water supply on a legislative level, consider Water for Long Island, a "coalition of organizations and individuals working to advance governmental actions for effective groundwater and water supply management across Long Island." <http://www.waterforlongisland.org/home.html>

The Religious Action Center of Reform Judaism and the Women of Reform Judaism have asked that we urge our members of Congress to support the EACH Woman Act. "The EACH Woman Act would end bans on abortion coverage, restoring respect for each woman's moral agency, ensuring fair treatment no matter her income, and protecting her health and safety." If you have any questions or would like more information, please contact Eisendrath Legislative Assistant Ally Karpel at 202-387-2800.

Mission Statement

Temple B'nai Torah is a diverse caring congregation that embraces a progressive and inclusive vision of Reform Judaism through worship, study of Torah and righteous deeds. We are creating a multi-generational home in our region by staying connected to our roots, as well as offering spiritual enrichment, Jewish education and community engagement.
